Addendum to the Chairman's Ruling on Questions of Law

The availability of the relevant legislation:

1. In a ruling delivered by me on 10 November 2008, in this matter I commented critically upon what I perceived to be a lack of availability through the Bilingual Laws Information System, (BLIS), of the relevant legislation, the Securities (Insider Dealing) Ordinance, Cap 395 in relation to insider dealing prior to 1 April 2003.

2. Subsequently, the Law Draughtsman, quite correctly, reminded me that following my original criticism of the situation, (see ruling dated 11 August 2005, Asia Orient Holdings Inquiry), steps had been taken to ensure that the link on the Insider Dealing Tribunal website took interested persons to past versions of the relevant legislation.

3. My criticism in my ruling on 10 November 2008 was entirely unjustified, and did not properly reflect the fact that members of the public seeking to access legislation through BLIS will be appropriately directed to the repealed legislation, which remains in force in respect of insider dealing alleged to have taken place prior to 1 April 2003.
